EDUCATION

(revised 29 Feb 2024)

A. PHILOSOPHY & AIMS FOR SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTIST SCHOOLS

(revised Dec 2003)

1. PHILOSOPHY

The Seventh-day Adventist Church recognises that God, the Creator and Sustainer of the earth, and the entire universe, is the source of knowledge and wisdom. In His image God created humanity perfect. Because of sin, humans lost this original estate; Christian education, assists in perfecting faith in Christ, which will restore in man the image of His maker. Christian education will also nurture in humanity an intelligent dedication to the work of God on earth, and prepare individuals for conscientious service to fellow humanity and citizenship of the eternal kingdom.

Seventh-day Adventists believe that knowledge of this personal God can never be derived by human reason alone, but that God has communicated His nature, purposes, and plans through divine revelation. The Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments were given by inspiration of God and contain a revelation of His will to men, and they constitute for the Church the only unerring rule of faith, and practice. The Church accepts the counsel and writings of Ellen White as a spiritual gift to the Church. Her specific counsels on education have become a major guiding principle in formulating the Church's philosophy of education.

The Church operates a school system to ensure that its children and young people may receive a balanced physical, intellectual, social, and spiritual education in harmony with denominational standards and ideas, with God as the source of all moral value and truth. His revealed mind and will are the criteria for right and wrong. The stated interest of the Church is in the optimum development of the whole child for the purpose of glorifying God in every aspect of his/her life.

Seventh-day Adventists conduct their own schools for the purpose of transmitting to students the ideals, beliefs, attitudes, values, habits and customs of Adventism. The government maintains a highly developed state system for making citizens; but in addition to being patriotic, law-abiding citizens, Seventh-day Adventists want their students to be loyal, conscientious Christians in every sphere of life.

Therefore, the Seventh-day Adventist Church desires through all its educational programmes to help prepare children and youth for effective citizenship on this earth and for rewarding citizenship in the new earth. Moreover, it makes abundant provision for acquisition and interpretation of that which is appropriate from the store of secular knowledge and skills for mental, social, vocational, and physical development.

C. SCHOOL POLICIES (revised Dec 2003)

The following policies apply to both Primary and Secondary schools throughout the British Union. The establishment of schools throughout the territories of the BUC is encouraged on the following basis:

1. INITIAL STEPS IN ESTABLISHING A SCHOOL

The local Conference/Mission Education Director (where appointed) shall work with the church(es) requesting the school. Plans shall be submitted to the local Conference or Mission Executive Committee in consultation with the BUC Education Director, whose duty it will be to bring the request to the BUC Executive Committee. Where there is no local Education Director, the local administration may invite the BUC Education Director to work directly with the church.

2. FINANCIAL PLAN TO BE APPROVED

Schools shall only be opened if the financial plans for buildings and operating are acceptable to the local Conference or Mission Executive Committee, the BUC Executive Committee and where relevant the TED Executive Committee.

3. ENROLMENT

- (a) A school should not be established without a minimum enrolment of six Seventh-day Adventist pupils, with a reasonable prospect of this number being maintained.
- (b) Non-Seventh-day Adventist pupils can be admitted in order to meet the requirements of Teacher/Pupil Ratio in section 5 below.
- (c) Where the Seventh-day Adventist enrolment falls below six, the local Conference or Mission Executive Committee and the BUC Executive Committee shall consider changing its status to a Mission School, or discontinuing appropriations.

4. MISSION SCHOOLS

(a) Definition

A Mission School is defined as a denominational school organised and operated as an evangelising agency primarily for non-Seventh-day Adventists.

(b) Criteria

- (i) Where mission schools are conducted, they are to serve as evangelising agencies of the church. (Whenever Seventh-day Adventist children are attending such schools, special provision shall be made for their adequate religious instruction).
- (ii) Mission schools shall not compete with existing church schools or serve as substitutes for church schools.
- (iii) Plans shall be laid for all mission schools to become church schools or to act as "feeders" for church schools.
- (iv) Only Seventh-day Adventist teachers shall be employed for mission schools and where possible at least some of the teacher's education will have been obtained in Seventh-day Adventist colleges.
- (v) Bible courses shall be given priority in the curriculum and all students shall be required to be involved in at least one Bible course each year.
- (vi) Classes shall be kept small enough to allow teachers to exert a personal influence over each student and to maintain contact with their parents.

5. TEACHER/PUPIL RATIOS

Teacher/pupil ratios shall be determined by dividing the number of full-time pupils in a school by the number of full-time equivalents of teaching staff (including heads), and resource staff. Primary Schools should consider 15:1 as an optimum ratio with 12:1 as a minimum. Due to the extra staffing needed at Nursery level, the Nursery or Nursery/Reception unit should be considered as operating with a satisfactory ratio if it falls between 8:1-10:1. Where the ratio for Nursery and Primary Schools drop below these recommended figures, the School Board should seriously consider the reduction of staff so as to approach this target.

Secondary Schools should consider the following formulations as the goals for operation:

- (a) An overall pupil/teacher ratio of 12:1
- (b) Pupil/teacher ratio of 14:1 + 1.5 administrative staff + 1.5 library/resource staff.
- (c) Total subject periods (thirty-five minutes)

32

The overall pupil/teacher ratio should in no circumstance be less than 10:1 and should be within a close orbit of the three criteria given above.

6. TEACHING LOAD

Primary and Nursery: Under normal circumstances Primary teachers should be expected to be engaged in classroom activity during the full length of a school day. However, all efforts should be taken to ensure that each teacher receives at least an unbroken forty-five minute break during each full teaching day (normally during lunch period).

Secondary: Secondary teachers should expect to teach at least 75-80% of the total class time available. Where pupil/teacher ratios are not met, a full load could be proportionally more. Teachers can further expect other duties equivalent to no more than 20% of available break and lunch periods.

7. ECONOMIC STUDENT CLASS SIZE

Where a class drops below seven, the head teacher should be required to justify the continuance of the situation to the School Board and administering organisation.

8. CURRICULUM BREADTH

Each school should analyse its curriculum into core, supportive and enrichment activities, in order for the Board to evaluate the focus of the school and the needs for expansion. In such an analysis core activities should be considered as those essential to the school's academic operation (Maths, English, etc.), supportive activities would be those supporting the core (special needs etc.), and enrichment activities would be those giving specific focus to a school but which lie outside the core curriculum (Business Studies, Environmental studies, Horticulture, etc.). Where an activity is added or extended this should be examined in light of the total balance of curriculum. It should not be understood by this analysis that supportive and enrichment activities are not required or are of less importance; the analysis should be seen solely as a tool of developmental strategy that is understandable to the School Board and administrative organisations.

9. SCHOOL BUILDING - FINANCIAL ARRANGEMENTS

(a) Availability of Funds

All of these policies are subject to the availability of funds in each organisation, and cannot therefore be considered mandatory.

(b) Education Development Funds

The BUC and local Conferences and Missions shall endeavour to establish Education Development Funds in their respective budgets, in preparation for school requests.

(c) Obligations of Local Church

Churches applying for help under this policy shall be made aware of their financial obligations under the policies for School Operating - Financial Arrangements, section 10 below.

(d) Building Plans

In order to qualify for any of the financial subsidies listed in (e), (f) and (g) below, applications to the Union/Conference/Mission must be accompanied by building plans which have:

- (i) been approved by the local church/churches and/or, the school board.
- (ii) been prepared in consultation with the administering organisation.
- (iii) received local authority planning permission.

(e) Building New Schools Where There Has Been No School

- (i) The recommended sharing of costs is as follows:

TED	20%
BUC	25% - 30%
Conference/Mission	25% - 30%
Church(es)	20% - 30%

- (ii) A minimum notice of two years is required by the local Conference/Mission, BUC and TED.

(f) Building a New School Where a School Already Exists

- (i) Where circumstances make the building of a new school necessary, even in a different location, in a place where a school is already in operation, the sum to be raised shall be the difference between the price of the new building and the net sale price of the existing building. The recommended sharing of costs is as follows:

TED	10%
BUC	20%
Conference/Mission	35% - 40%
Church(es)	30% - 35%

- (ii) A minimum notice of two years is required by the local Conference/Mission, BUC and TED.

(g) Remodelling of Existing Schools

- (i) Where it becomes necessary to remodel or enlarge existing buildings, the recommended sharing of costs exceeding £1,500 is as follows:

TED	5%
BUC	10%
Conference/Mission/Church(es)	80%

- (ii) A minimum notice of one year is required by the local Conference/Mission, BUC and TED.

10. SCHOOL OPERATING - FINANCIAL ARRANGEMENTS

(a) Local Church Responsibility

The prime responsibility for operating lies with the local church(es), which, through fees and donations received shall be responsible for a minimum of 70% of the total cost of the operating expenses. These expenses include salaries and related expenses, insurance, rent and rates, heat and light, cleaning, education and office supplies, and all other costs.

(b) Union/Conference/Mission Responsibilities

Subject to the needs of the school, and to the availability of funds, the Union, the local Conference or Mission shall be responsible for up to a maximum of 30% of the total operating cost.

(c) Fees

- (i) Full fees, as set by the school board, shall be paid for all pupils.
- (ii) Arrangements for payment of fees shall be made on or before the first day of each term.
- (iii) When an account falls into arrears, arrangement of full payment (including the new term's fees) must be made on or before the first day of the next term.
- (iv) The school board should automatically consider the suspension of a pupil where an account is two terms overdue.

(d) Credit Control

Schools should provide the following information termly to their School Boards and monthly to their administrative organisations:

- (i) A schedule of fees outstanding beyond the current term.
- (ii) Long outstanding fees quotient =
(Previous term's fees outstanding x 100) / Fees charged this term

- (iii) Present collected fees quotient =
(Fees collected this term x 100) / Fees charged this term

The following targets for the latter should be deemed reasonable:

66% collection rate one month into a term.

80% collection rate two months into a term.

95% collection rate by the end of the term.

Provisions in the budget should be made at the end of each term for existing outstanding debts. This would have the effect of reducing available expenditure within the current year and reflect in the over (under) budget situation.

(e) Reporting of Financial Situation

- (i) The Board of Governors and the administering organisation should receive budget control statements (monthly) and a full financial statement termly. The presentation of these statements should not be more than one month after the period concerned.
- (ii) If the relevant committees do not meet within the one month period, statements should be sent by post, along with management notes.
- (iii) A copy of the statements should be lodged with the BUC treasury department within the one month described in (i) above.

(f) Apportioning of Budget

Board members should satisfy themselves that the budget caters adequately for the resource and maintenance needs of the school, and that depreciation amounts satisfy Union policy.

1. RESPONSIBILITY FOR SCHOOL FEES

In all situations the school fees for pupils attending all schools owned and operated by a Union, Conference or Mission within the territory of the British Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists remains the responsibility of the pupil's parents or legal guardians. Until the pupil's account with the school is credited with any subsidy the parent or legal guardian is responsible for the payment of the pupil's full school fees.

2. ELIGIBILITY FOR EDUCATIONAL SUBSIDY

In order to make application for an educational subsidy at least one parent or legal guardian of the pupil must be a Seventh-day Adventist who has been a member in regular standing of a Seventh-day Adventist church within the territory of the British Union Conference for at least twelve months prior to the start of the academic term for which a subsidy is being applied.

Or at least one parent or legal guardian of the pupil must be a denominational employee.

3. THE SUBSIDY

(a) The total subsidy given by the BUC and/or the Conference/Mission and/or the school to any pupil will not exceed 50% of the school tuition fee.

(b) A Union, Conference, or Mission may elect to apply one of the following implementation options, except where one parent or legal guardian is a denominational employee in which case the subsidy up to a maximum of 50% may be provided and approved by the respective employer:

(i) The local church through its church board is responsible for providing and approving a subsidy up to the maximum 50% of the school tuition fee subject to:

- (1) the availability of local church funds;
- (2) the parents or legal guardian meeting any local criteria established by the local church board.

(ii) The Union, Conference or Mission through the action of its executive committee may provide and approve a subsidy up to a maximum of 25% of the school tuition fees subject to:

- (1) the availability of local church funds;
- (2) the parents or legal guardian meeting any local criteria established by the local church board.

The approval of a subsidy by one party does not automatically imply approval by the other party.

(iii) The School through the action of its governing body may provide and approve a subsidy up to a maximum of 25% of the school tuition fees subject to:

- (1) budgetary provision;
- (2) any criteria established by the School's governing body.

- (c) Any potential subsidy will be reduced by the amount of any local authority (or similar) financial contribution received by the parent or legal guardian towards the cost of the pupil's school fees. Similarly where the pupil receives a subsidy from a denominational policy of another organisation that is more generous than the above policy such a pupil will be ineligible for any of the above bursaries.
- (d) A minimum of two term's notice must be given before any reduction in the level of the subsidy.
- (e) A Union, Conference, Mission, School or Local Church governing body may award a discretionary subsidy where a Seventh-day Adventist parent or legal guardian does not meet the eligibility criteria above and where that governing body, in their sole judgement, deems the circumstances are appropriate. Such a discretionary subsidy awarded by one organisation does not imply, as a matter of right, a similar subsidy by any other organisation.

R. TEACHER EXCHANGE PROGRAMME (TEP) (revised Dec 2003)

A TEP assumes that the teacher in the arrangement remains in the employment of the sponsoring school. Existing terms of conditions will also continue.

1. OBJECTIVES

The following are the objectives to be met by any proposed TEP involving a secondary or primary school in the British Union:

- (a) That it should contribute to the teacher's professional development.
- (b) That it should further the school's staff development strategies.
- (c) That it should provide the basis for a collaborative approach in developing educational initiatives that will be of mutual benefit to the participating schools.
- (d) That it should strengthen the international dimensions of Seventh-day Adventist education.

2. THE PROCEDURE FOR DEVELOPING A TEP

A proposed TEP may be initiated either by the school administration or by a staff member, and should conform to the following procedure:

- (a) That the school administration formulates a written proposal in consultation with the teacher. It should clearly state the rationale for the suggested TEP, demonstrating how it will address the educational needs of the school, including the four objectives above. It should also provide details of the arrangements as per paragraph (c) below including a copy of proposed arrangements by the participating school.
- (b) That consultation be held with the Education Department of the British Union, which in turn will dialogue, through the Trans-European Division, with the appropriate Union Education department to which the participating school is attached.
- (c) That the decision of the Board of Governors be communicated to all relevant parties to the TEP, and be recorded by the BUC Executive Committee.

3. ARRANGEMENTS FOR TEP

All approved TEPs are to subscribe to the following arrangements:

(a) Duration

All TEPs must be for a duration of between one quarter/term to one academic year. At the end of the period the teacher is contractually obliged to serve the sponsoring school for at least one full academic year in fulfilment of the objectives of the TEP.

(b) Travel

Each employing institution will pay the travel costs of its teacher in the exchange agreement. A spouse travel subsidy of 50% at the most economical return airfare rate will be granted to the applicant by the school. The teacher will be responsible for travel costs of other accompanying family members. The teacher may claim one daily allowance, in accordance with BUC policy, for outward and one for the return journey. No further allowances are applicable.

(c) Meals

The receiving school may provide either a meal ticket for the cafeteria or a food cost supplement for the period of the TEP. The actual rate to be determined by the school administration.

(d) Housing

The teachers involved in the exchange should be invited to negotiate housing arrangements, in consultation with the school bursar. If no housing exchange can be negotiated, the host school may provide acceptable lodging. No exchange should be finalised until written details of accommodation are agreed upon for both teachers.

- (e) Car
As per agreement between the two exchange teachers. No involvement on the part of either school.
- (f) Salary
The teacher's salary will be the responsibility of the sponsoring school and she/he will continue to receive salary at the home rate.
- (g) Insurance
Medical insurance and other benefit arrangements will be the responsibility of the sponsoring school. This is to be arranged with Adventist Risk Management. Coverage for a spouse and other family members shall be required and will be at the teacher's own expense.
The teacher will be expected to submit to medical clearance, to be funded by the sponsoring school.
- (h) Pension and Service Credit
Pension contributions will remain the responsibility of the sponsoring school. The teacher will continue to receive service credit for the duration of the TEP.

4. MONITORING AND REPORTING

All TEPs approved by the Board of Governors, extending beyond a quarter/term, are to be monitored and reported on in the following way:

- (a) That each school should provide a support colleague for the teacher.
- (b) That a monthly review programme be in place and implemented by the school administration.
- (c) That a termly (or otherwise) interim report be prepared by each school and shared appropriately with each other.
- (d) That a final report be prepared by each school on the outcome of the TEP.

5. TERMINATION OF THE TEP AGREEMENT

Where a teacher in the TEP is failing to fulfil the objectives and the arrangements negotiated in the proposals (supported by evidence from the interim reports), the sponsoring school should seek to negotiate appropriate ways to solve the problem(s). However, where attempts to resolve the matter are unsuccessful, the sponsoring school reserves the right to terminate the agreement.
